

ATMS-520: Climatology

This course involves the study of the Earth's climate. Climate elements and atmospheric heat transfer processes will be studied and applied to climate classification schemes. The effects of climate on human activities will be considered

Credits: 3

Program: Atmospheric Sciences