

CSCI-549: Data Communications II

This course is a continuation of Data Communications I. It introduces further networking topics by discussing wireless networking, and the components of network management - fault management, performance, configuration, security and accounting.

Credits: 3

Program: Computer Science