

EDUC-216: Instructional and Assistive Technology

Provides an understanding of assistive technology and application in instructional programs, career tasks, and life skills for individuals with disabilities. Presentation and exploration experiences enable students to better use assistive technology in education, work, community, and home environments.

Credits: 3

Program: Curriculum & Instruction