

ELPS-614: Institutional Research

This course provides an introduction to the theoretical and practical application of data-driven decision making for institutional researchers. This course focuses on how to collect, analyze, review, and present data and information to decision-makers.

Credits: 3

Program: Educ. Leadership & Policy