GIST-502: Production / Operations Research

This course is an introduction to the concepts, principles, problems, and practices of operations management. Emphasis is on managerial processes for effective operations in both goods-producing and service-rendering organization.
Credits: 3
Program: Information Systems/Tech (GR)