

INDI-401: Intern Readiness Course

The Internship Readiness Course is a required 2-week course in which fourth-year students will review and practice common in-hospital acute care clinical scenarios, bedside procedures and surgical skills, and communication techniques. Students are assigned to one of four subspecialty tracks according to their planned residency specialty: Acute Care/Medicine, Pediatrics, Surgery or Obstetrics/Gynecology.

Credits: 4

Program: Interdisciplinary Courses