

INTG-216: Graduate Interior Design III, Advanced Problems in Lighting

A studio exploration of lighting in interior environments introduces the fundamental principles of color as it applies to the spatial and visual perception of the built environment, the psychology of color, its impact on human behavior, and interior spaces.

Credits: 3

Program: Portfolio Development & Review