

NUTG-540: International Nutrition

Presents major nutritional problems that influence the health, survival, and developmental capacity of populations in developing societies. Covers approaches implemented at the household, community, national, and international levels to improve nutritional status.

Credits: 3

Program: Graduate Nutritional Science