

PGDP-626: Anesthesiology

This course introduces the nurse anesthesia student to concepts that are necessary to formulate a plan and implement a safe and individualized anesthetic in the perioperative setting. The focus of the course includes: preparation of the anesthetizing environment; patient assessment; physiologic monitoring; anesthetic techniques; prevention of complications; utilization of anesthesia equipment; pharmacologic agents; fluid and electrolyte monitoring; communication and documentation; formulation of an anesthesia care plan and evaluation.

Credits: 3

Program: Postgraduate Dental Program