

PHTH-715: Introduction to PT Practice

This course is the first in a series of courses related to professional issues in physical therapy practice and serves as a foundation for future coursework. Topics introduced in this course include psychology of health, ethics, educational foundations, and scientific inquiry.

Credits: 2

Program: Physical Therapy