

PHTH-716: Lifespan Development 2

This course introduces the student to the lifespan development of the individual and relates that process to physical therapy practice. Physiological development, psychological development, social issues, environmental issues, cultural issues and family issues will be presented.

Credits: 2

Program: Physical Therapy