

PHYS-216: Mathematical Methods in Physics

A study of vectors, matrices, tensors, linear transformations, complex variables, Fourier series, orthogonal functions, partial differential equations of physics, Fourier and Laplace transforms.

Credits: 3

Program: Physics