

POLS-264: Problems in International Security

This course is a deep dive on pressing international security problems, as well as frozen conflicts and developing security issues. It is intended as a capstone to the ISS major and will feature a written research project.

Credits: 3

Program: Political Science