

RTVF-700: African American Cinema

This course surveys the history, theories, debates, and controversies that have characterized African American cinema, with an emphasis on the relationship between African American cinema and American culture and politics more broadly.

Credits: 3

Program: Radio Television and Film