

SCRL-205: Psychology of Religion

Treats psychological factors in religious experience, with special reference to their significance in the phenomena of conversion, revivals, mysticism, personality structure, and social action.

Credits: 3

Program: Society Culture and Religion