

CIEG-614: Special Topics in Geotechnical Engineering I

Involves an individually-supervised study or independent design or research in specialized topics not covered in regular geotechnical engineering courses or of particular interest to the student. The student must review pertinent literature, prepare a project outline, carry out an approved plan, and submit a research paper/formal final report. Prerequisites: CIEG-434.

Credits: 3

Program: Civil Engineering