

PSYC-248: Practicum in Developmental Psychology

This course is designed to help students in the developmental area achieve a level of mastery that is consistent with the goals of our graduate program, which include training the next generation of Black psychologists and others to produce new knowledge, teach, engage in clinical practice, develop policy, and transform lives, through the scientific work in the area of developmental psychology.

Credits: 3

Program: Psychology